Work on the car park and public space improvements at the new Kukum market is progressing well. This week there was a concrete pouring and local workers continue working hard to complete the remaining sections. It is estimated the final completion is due in second week of February.

Vura clinic public space improvement

Work on the public space improvement at Vura clinic is progressing very well.

This week there was pouring of concrete as well.

The work is estimated to complete in the coming weeks.

So far the new development brought joy and excitement for nurses who are serving in the clinic.

Many times patients que and congregate in the small building however, with this new space now under construction it will ease the long que and comply with COVID social distancing.

Auki court house footpath

A new footpath is on the way in Auki, Malaita Province. The footpath will run from the court house up to the provincial office. The 112 meters long footpath is aim to complete end of February. In the meantime regular people passing by the construction site are happy to see the new development and cant wait to walk on comfortable footpath.
